BOOK SYNOPSIS

Lucien Thrax, son of the earth and child of the ancients, is a healer of immense power. But years of work on a deadly vampire virus have not led to a cure, nor have they softened the wall he built around his heart. When he's forced to work with Dr. Makeda Abel, Lucien is convinced he's reached the limit of his patience with humanity. Makeda Abel may be human, but she's far from impressed with the brooding vampire healer even if his mind draws her admiration. She's learned how to survive in the immortal world, and it's not by being timid. Working together may lead them to answers, but it also pushes Lucien and Makeda's reluctant attraction to the boiling point. When nightmares become reality, Makeda will have to trust Lucien with her life. Finding answers has never been more vital. Finding love has never been more deadly. To heal the Elemental World, Lucien and Makeda must follow ancient paths and ask for help from the most inhuman of immortals. Because even with a cure in hand, the battle has only begun.
